Career Objective/Professional Summary

As an interdisciplinary designer currently in my final year of my BA Degree in Design at Goldsmiths University of London, I have developed a strong foundation of transferable skills that are essential to the graphic design industry.

Through my studies, I have gained practical skills in design software such as Adobe Creative Suite, and have honed my teamwork and collaboration abilities through working closely with both peers and mentors. As a highly driven team player, I am confident in my ability to work collaboratively with colleagues and clients to create successful designs that exceed expectations. My degree has also taught me the importance of conceptual thinking in various environments and socio-cultural contexts and improving my design thinking and innovation.

I am passionate about the design industry and eager to continue developing my skills and knowledge to achieve success in my future career.
